

COVID-19:

Does your business rely on payment from public sector contracts which are now in jeopardy due to the coronavirus pandemic?

If yes, see how BHJ can assist.

BACKHOUSE
JONES

BHJ

Does your business have any contracts with a public body (this could include the Local Authority for concessionary fares or the local school for a bus service) or a contract for services you were going to provide in the near future which is now in jeopardy due to the coronavirus pandemic?

If the answer is yes, Backhouse Jones can assist in determining whether you have a potential claim.

What do operators need to do?

Step 1:

Contact Backhouse Jones and provide our team with details of your contract(s).

Our teams will review the documentation and ascertain whether there is potential for a claim. This first exploratory step is subject to an initial fixed fee of £95 plus VAT.

Step 2:

If Backhouse Jones deems there is potential for a claim, our experienced lawyers will enter into negotiations for payment on your behalf. This experienced intervention will cost operators £395 plus VAT per contract (£350 plus VAT for BACKup, RHA, CPT and BAR members)*

If you are interested in Backhouse Jones pursuing this for you, please contact our team on 01254 828 300 or email disputeresolution@backhouses.co.uk

backhousejones.co.uk

*Backhouse Jones reserves the right to charge on a discounted hourly rate in complex cases. We will advise if this is the situation at the outcome of the review and anticipate that most cases will fall within the fixed fee bracket.

BACKUP